Pre-registration assessment process

Tusla's Early Years Inspectorate complete a Pre-Registration Assessment of all childminding services in the childminder's home, as part of the registration process. This is undertaken before the service can be registered. The purpose is to assess whether the home is a safe and suitable setting for children and to ensure that the number of children the childminder wants to care for can be safely accommodated. The assessment visit is arranged with the childminder in advance. The inspector will assess the service against the childminding regulations.

There are three possible outcomes following the pre-registration assessment:

- Requirements Met: The service may be registered without any further actions needed by the childminder.
- Requirements Met with Actions Identified: The service may be registered however the inspector has identified some areas for improvement, which do not pose an immediate risk to children, that the childminder must address. These areas will be clearly explained and may be reviewed when the service is next inspected.
- Requirements Not Met: The inspector has identified regulatory requirements which have not been met. The childminder has an opportunity to submit to the inspector what actions they have taken / are taking to address them in advance of the finalisation of the report and the registration decision.

Once the Pre-Registration Assessment process is complete, the report will be finalised and a registration decision will be made and communicated to the childminder.

Childminding

Pre-Registration Assessment Report

Methodology

The inspection was an announced inspection to assess compliance with the Child Care Act 1991 (Early Years Services) Childminding Regulations 2024

The inspection focused on the safety and suitability of the home by assessing regulations relating to the registration of a childminding service, numbers of children to be cared for, the home setting, food & drink and the children's records.

The findings on inspection are based on:

- direct observation
- discussion with the childminder
- examination of documentation where necessary.

The findings from this inspection were taken into consideration when making the final decision to register the childminder with Tusla.
